Part 2

You are going to hear a conversation between two people at a donut factory. Choose the best answer to complete each sentence a, b or c.

- Visitor 1: I can't wait for this tour Grandad!
- Visitor 2: Me too, but I can't find my mouthwash. I've got my glasses and my wallet, but...
- Visitor 1: It's too late. We don't have time to look for it. The guide's here.
- Guide: Good morning and welcome to GoNuts Donuts, the oldest donut factory in the world, founded in 1848. I'm your guide, Eddie Clair. It's our last tour ever today. We're closing on February 15th because we're losing a lot of money (sobs). Do you want the long tour or the short tour today?
- Visitor 1: What's the difference, Mr. Clair?
- Guide: Good question young man. On the long tour we walk slower.
- Visitor 2: We're meeting grandma at the restaurant for dinner at six, and your mom's arriving half an hour later, so we'd better not take the long one.
- Guide: Fine by me. Let's get going. We haven't got all day. Now, if you look to your right you can see the giant mixing machine.
- Visitor 1: What are they putting in the machine now, Mr. Clair?
- Guide: They're adding the two secret ingredients to make our world famous GoNuts Donuts. This is where the magic happens.
- Visitor 2: What are the two secret ingredients?
- Guide: Flour and eggs.
- Visitor 1: Really?
- Guide: No, of course not. I'm not telling you our secrets!
- Visitor 2: Well, it smells like mangoes and custard to me.
- Guide: How did you know? Um...I mean no, that's, uh, my...shampoo. Now, let's move on. In this next room straight ahead you can see how the donuts are shaped (machine sound). If you look at that huge heart-shaped machine over there, it shapes the donuts and cuts a hole in the middle of each one. Pow! Just like that.
- Visitor 2: Is the hole heart-shaped? I'll get some for grandma.
- Guide: I'm glad you asked. No, it isn't, and it's not round either. It's square, just like your glasses. Now let's circle round and go to the final room where you can see how we put the toppings on each donut.
- Visitor 1: What kind of donuts do you make? Do you have pumpkin flavored ones?
- Guide: Yes, but only on Halloween.
- Visitor 1: How about cookies and cream?
- Guide: Oh, of course. It's our best seller, especially on Valentine's Day, even better than strawberry chocolate. Well, it used to be. Would you like to try it?
- Visitor 2: Of course. I'm sure Jimmy would, wouldn't you little man?

Visitor 1: Yeah! (Eats) Wow, but it's not cookies and cream. It's...It's minty! I love it!

Visitor 2: Let me try...Yeah, it's fantastic. It tastes like my missing mouthwash.

Guide: Huh? What are you talking about? It's supposed to be cookies and cream. Give it to me! (Eats) Oh. Oh, you're right! It's amazing. It's really minty with a hint of lemon and lime. If we can make more of these wonderful donuts, I think it might save the company! Let's call it Magic Eclair.

Visitor 2: No, it tastes like my mouthwash, so it should be called Green Grandad.

Visitor 1: I want to call it Little Jim's.

Guide: Let's flip a coin. I win. Magic Eclair it is!

Part 3

Listen to a radio interview and complete the sentences with the missing information. Write one word or number in each space.

Announcer:

Welcome everyone to our weekly show, Voices from the Street, Margate's number one radio show where we get people's opinions on life. Excuse me, sir. What would you like to change about the world?

Mr. Fury:

I'll tell you what the worst problem in this country is. Umbrellas! We must stop people from using those terrible things. They're nothing but trouble! To start with, did you know that the average umbrella only lasts for four and a half days before it's either blown away, lost or stolen by a long-haired teenager like that kid over there eating a burger...the dirty animal. Yes boy, I'm talking about you. Another thing is they are awful for the environment. They're made of 80% plastic and you can't recycle them. Look over there in the river...there are three blue umbrellas just floating around. People just throw them away...it's shocking! On top of that, they are so dangerous. If you have an umbrella in your hand, it's almost like you're holding a samurai sword. Just last week I was getting off the bus and a horrible old lady nearly poked my eye out with hers and, when I shouted at her, she hit me over the head with it. See this cut behind my left ear? It's still there! Finally, they're very unlucky. If you open one up in the house, you'll have seven years bad luck. SEVEN! It's worse than breaking a mirror on Friday the 13th in front of a black cat on your mother's birthday.

Wait a minute, is that rain? Oh, no. I'm going to get wet. Has anyone got an umbrella? Hey, Burger Boy, give me your umbrella ...stop running away. Come back you little... (sound of running)

Boy:

(screams) Help!
